FUND OBJECTIVE

The Growth MultiFund aims to provide high levels of growth with moderate to high levels of risk and volatility over the medium to longer-term.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed and is not managed in reference to any benchmark. It is managed by reference to a performance target which is to outperform USD 3M SOFR +3% to 5% over a minimum five years.

SUITABILITY & RISK AND REWARD

The Growth MultiFund is suitable for clients with an investment time horizon of a minimum 5 years. Investing in the fund involves a risk to capital in order to achieve the desired return.

To achieve the investment objective, the portfolio invests across a range of asset classes within a strategic and tactical asset allocation framework designed to maximise diversification benefits. An absolute and relative valuation-based approach underpins this framework, resulting in a multilayered process to facilitate disciplined decision-making and risk management.

Portfolio construction combines exposures to active fund managers, who are expected to outperform their defined benchmarks and passive investment vehicles which provide low cost access to markets. This blend of active and passive funds is used to create a competitively priced investment solution.

1) The annualised total return is the average return earned by an investment each year over a given time period. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investment performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment, the actual investment date, the date of any reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Data source Nedgroup Investments (IOM) Limited.

2) The on-going fee is a measure of the actual expenses incurred in the management of the Classes of the Sub-Fund. The on-going fee shown is expressed as a percentage of the monthly average value of the portfolio calculated over a 12-month period as at the date shown. The current on-going fee cannot be used as an indication of future on-going fees. A higher on-going fee does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low on-going fee imply a good return.

KEY RISKS

- The Fund could lose money if a counterparty with which the Fund trades becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations, or as a result of failure or delay in operational processes or the failure of a third party provider.
- Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
- The Fund invests in other funds (including exchange traded funds and investment trusts/companies), which may introduce more risky assets, derivative usage and other risks, as well as contributing to a higher level of ongoing charges.
- The Fund may use derivatives with the aim of reducing risk or managing the portfolio more efficiently. However this introduces other risks, in particular, that a derivative counterparty may not meet its contractual obligations.
- If the Fund holds assets in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund or you invest in a share class of a different currency to the Fund (unless 'hedged'), the value of your investment may be impacted by changes in exchange rates.
- Securities within the Fund could become hard to value or to sell at a desired time and price, especially in extreme market conditions when asset prices may be falling, increasing the risk of investment losses.
- The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount originally invested.
- Tax assumptions and reliefs depend upon an investor's particular circumstances and may be subject to change.

May 2022

MARKET COMMENTARY

May proved to be a volatile month for markets, but after a tough first four months global equity and bond markets at least managed to end the period broadly flat. Recent concerns over global growth helped to slightly temper the extremely high interest rate expectations and provide support to markets, as did Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell's comments discounting the possibility big (0.75%) rate hikes. Nonetheless, the market's list of worries remained largely unchanged during the month: high inflation, tightening monetary policy, slowing growth, Russia's invasion of Ukraine, and COVID-related lockdowns in China (albeit some of these restrictions were relaxed towards the end of the period). Overall, it would seem for sentiment to change markets will need to see an improvement in several of these areas, especially inflation given its importance to the monetary policy outlook.

Global equity markets (-0.2%) were unchanged on the month. A large weighting to the energy sector continued to benefit UK equities (+1.3%), as it has done so-far this year. In terms of style, growth stocks (-2.0%) yet again underperformed the more value / cyclically (+2.0%) orientated equities, on the back of valuation concerns and a number of disappointing quarterly earnings results. Sector performance was much less clear cut, while Energy (+12.2%) was yet again easily the best performing area this was followed by Utilities (+2.8%) and Financials (+2.2%). At the other end of the spectrum Real Estate (-3.8%), Consumer Staples (-3.4%), and Consumer Discretionary (-2.9%) sectors fell the most, reflecting in part lower demand and increasing pressure on margins of consumer facing companies.

Within fixed income markets, concerns over growth and a better understanding of the speed of US Federal Reserve interest rate rises, generated gains in the US bond markets during the month. Looking at the detail, global government bond prices fell (-0.5%) despite the rally in US bonds, as UK and European bond yields rose sharply due to inflation concerns. Global investment grade credit (+0.2%) generated a positive return over the month as spreads tightened marginally, at the riskier end of the credit spectrum the opposite was true with global high yield (-0.3%) posting a small decline.

In terms of real assets, property markets underperformed equities over the month with the global REITs index down -4.3% over the period. Commodities (+1.5%) rose for yet another month (+32.7% year to date), led primarily by crude oil (+11.5%) as a result of continued supply concerns due to the war between Russia and Ukraine. Industrial metals (-6.5%) fell further on the back of global demand concerns, whilst gold (-3.6%) was also weak despite a weaker US dollar during the month.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The end of May saw the Growth MultiFund close the month flat (0.0%) for the US dollar share classes and down -0.3% for the GBP share classes, the small difference reflecting the strength of sterling over the period. This follows a strong period of growth with the three year returns comfortably ahead of both peer group and longer term cash (+) targets.

Within equities, our tilt towards more value orientated equities such as Dodge & Cox Global Stock Fund (+5.1%) and iShares Edge MSCI World Value (+2.6%) was helpful given the continued sell-off in growth stocks. In contrast, our holdings in Fundsmith Equity Fund (-4.4%) and Morgan Stanley Global Brands (-2.4%) both of which underperformed on a relative basis due to their high exposure to consumers staples, a sector which struggled in May over concerns of the 'health' of the consumer.

Elsewhere, there were a wide range of performances within our real asset and alternative strategy space, but overall they were areas that were supportive for returns. Within property, whilst BMO Commercial Property was little changed on the month (albeit up circa 14% year to date) the performance of our two UK care home exposures, Impact Healthcare REIT (-2.6%) and Target Healthcare REIT (+7.8%), diverged sharply over the period. The jump in Target Healthcare REIT came on the back of good Q1 earnings results, which showed the benefits of both inflation-linked rental uplifts and strong demand in the sector. Our listed global REITs holding Nedgroup Global

NEDGROUP INVESTMENTS MULTIFUNDS PLC

GROWTH MULTIFUND

Property Fund (-5.7%), as with all REITS, struggled during the month, underperforming global equities. Within infrastructure, our overall exposure to renewable energy infrastructure continued to be positive for returns. The sector saw good results and was seen as further benefiting from the current high level of electricity prices and inflation (for example JLEN Environmental Assets Group rose +5.9% after very strong Q1 results). The more traditional infrastructure holdings, 3i Infrastructure (-0.9%) and Atlas Global Infrastructure (+2.9%), were more mixed in May but together easily outperformed global equity markets. Within our alternative positions the performance of our private equity holdings, Oakley Capital Investments (-10.8%) and Princess Private Equity (-3.4%), was a drag on performance. The two positions in song royalties, Hipgnosis Songs Fund (-3.2%) and Round Hill Music Royalty Fund (-2.2%), also did not provide any support. In fact, the only bright spot within our alternative positions during May was our recent investment in Gore Street Energy Storage Fund (+4.5%) which invests in battery storage systems. This area is witnessing huge demand at present given their importance for the global energy transition to net zero, they are also seen as benefiting from the current electricity price volatility.

In terms of portfolio activity, we participated in a capital raise by Gresham House Energy Storage Fund, a UK domiciled investment trust listed on London Stock Exchange which invests solely in energy storage (batteries). We see Gresham House Energy Storage Fund as an attractive investment opportunity (very similar to Gore Street Energy Storage Fund) allowing us to tap into a growing market which is critical for the global energy transition to net zero. Renewable energy sources are by their very nature intermittent making balancing demand / supply of electricity more challenging. Battery storage systems can therefore help to maintain the stability of the grid. It terms of other changes within equities we decided to further reduce our exposure to small / mid cap in favour of large companies given the more challenging economic environment. We also marginally increased the average maturity (interest rate sensitivity) of the fixed income portfolio and reduced the portfolio's exposure to high yield corporate bonds, given the outlook and the extent that bonds yields have already risen this year.
